Dear Year 11 parents and carers

I am sorry to tell you I got my wires crossed with our supplier about the delivery date, and the Leavers Hoodies are not going to be with us for handing out this morning after the Physics exam as we had originally intended.

This miscommunication came to light last night when I checked in with the supplier to discuss what time he would be bringing the hoodies over, and I do apologise for this.

Instead, Mr Smith will be in Reception from 2pm to 5pm on Wednesday 7 July, for students to pop along and collect their hoodies.

To be honest, we are missing these students already and we are glad there will now be another opportunity to see them!

There will still be shirt-signing and ice cream on the field at 11am today when they finish their Physics exam.

Once again, my apologies for disappointment here.

Best wishes

Mrs E Loughran
