Dear Year 9 parent and carers

Our Apologies, Some Technical Issues are Delaying the Opening of SIMS Online

It was great to see so many of you at our Choices Evening last night and I really enjoyed having the chance to talk to parents and carers in person.

I mentioned in my presentation that we have been experiencing some technical issues with the SIMS Online system that we use for students to make their subject selections, and as I feared, this seems to be on-going. However, Mr Stafford is determined to get to the bottom of it over the weekend and I am now hopeful that we will be able to open the system up early next week.

Today some students have reported that they have been able to log in successfully and make their choices, while others have met a problem, so clearly it is not a straightforward issue.

Once we have full resolution, I shall email you all again, hopefully by Tuesday next week, and we will keep the Choices Window open for the full fortnight from that point, so you will have plenty of time to work through your decisions.

Wishing you all a happy, sunny weekend.
